Gap analysis for FSC certification

Many forest companies view Forest Stewardship Certification as 'too hard'. In an FSC audit the forest manager is expected to show so called 'verifiers' that the FSC Principles and related criteria have been met.

If you look hard at your current system, especially one that meets PEFC, meeting FSC is not that hard. A gaps audit is the first step to identifying what verifiers you have in place and what you may need to do to fill the gaps.

Most of the requirements are often in place and it's just a case of adapting them to meet the FSC audit requirements.

This is a simple process Pinnacle Quality is a specialist company with expertise in identifying what companies need to do to meet the FSC standards.

In addition Pinnacle Quality will offer frameworks to help you avoid reinventing the wheel.

Most of the major companies in Australia are already clients and have benefited from our highly specialised expertise.
